

ZONING PLAN NEAR FOR BRISTOL TWP, IT IS STATED

Preliminary Draft is Being Readied for General Distribution

PLAN TWO MEETINGS

Proposed Plan is Result of Months of Study By Commission

Bristol Township residents will soon have the opportunity of studying and criticizing a proposed zoning plan for Bristol Township. A preliminary draft of the zoning plan, prepared by the Bristol Township Planning Commission, is being readied for distribution to the general public for review and comment. Walter G. Rittler, chairman of the Planning Commission, has announced that the preliminary report will be given wide circulation among the property owners and other interested citizens of Bristol Township. Following publication of the report, two public meetings will be scheduled. Notice of the time and place of these public hearings will be given as soon as arrangements can be completed.

The proposed zoning plan is the result of months of study on the part of the Planning Commission. Members of the Planning Commission in addition to Mr. Rittler are: Reba Goebig, Martin Lavens, Joseph Mixer, and Harry Smith. The Planning Commission was assisted in its work by the Government Consulting Service of the University of Pennsylvania, technical experts retained by the Board of Township Commissioners. In the opinion of the Planning Commission, the adoption of a zoning ordinance will give the township one important planning control necessary to guide township development and to meet adequately the impact of fast-growing industrial and residential development in the immediate area. The objectives of the zoning plan as stated by the Planning Commission are:

1. To direct the Township's growth so as to avoid continued scattered, intensive, and mixed development which can destroy property values and add to the burden of the taxpayer.

2. To separate residential, commercial, and industrial uses and to provide ample space in the proper locations for each kind of use.

3. To protect roadways from spotty ribbon-type development, harmful both to proper and safe use of the road and to the best use of the land along the road.

4. To avoid overcrowdedness in any section of the Township, and

Large Radio-Controlled Model Plane Exhibited

A meeting of the Bristol Aeromodelers was held on Wednesday evening. Several business items concerning the third annual model flying circus were discussed.

In view of the increasing interest in free flight duration and radio-controlled model planes, the possibility of the club building a master transmitter in the near future was discussed. This would mean that each model flier would only have to mount a receiver and control system in his craft.

A large radio-controlled model plane was exhibited before the group by Kenneth Greenfield.

The door prize was won by William Snyder.

A model flying session will be held by the club Sunday on Hunter-Wilson field, weather permitting.

THE PLAGUE OF PATRONAGE

Nobody has ever licked the problem of patronage. It is the bane of politics. It always has been. Arguments over the dispensation of kings' favors are mentioned in the Bible. Rivalry over royal perquisites probably did more to undermine the institution of monarchy than any other factor.

Trace the decline and fall of great political machines in this country, and you will see that usually the so-called "revolt" was led, not by an outsider, but by a trusted lieutenant who became greedy for more patronage than he was receiving.

"Give a man a job and you make him ungrateful, and a dozen more envious"—that is an old political saying, which sheds a certain amount of light on the troubles of the Truman regime. The New Deal, at long last, has split on the reefs of patronage. You may think that the fight is over exalted principles and high politics—but wade through the speeches, for example, of Ke-fauver, and note that most of the quarrel boils down to "who" shall be in power, not "what" they shall do.

The same patronage which is breaking the Democratic Party apart held it together in the past. The South would have taken a walk, long ago, except for the fact that life seemed barren and desolate when viewed on the terms of presidential patronage being withheld.

Any time for years that the South wanted to get rid forever of Truman Socialism and all it stands for, there was the simplest of methods of accomplishing this—just let the Southern voters vote on election day for precisely the same leadership which so many Southerners in Congress have been voting for—Republican leadership.

All the fire and zeal and idealism that made the New Deal almost a religion to its fanatical followers, back in the Thirties, has gone out the window. Now what is left is a bitter, Kilkenny-Cat fight over who is going to name the jobholders, who is going to collect their "political contributions," who is going to tell them how to vote, who is going to finger out the recipients of contracts, who is going to collect the political cut-backs, kick-backs, five-percents, etc.

No wonder that, in this period of test primaries, anyone who runs against the President buries him in an avalanche of repudiation by the voters, and no wonder that Mr. Truman frantically

LONG-LOST FOX HOUND FOUND IN MARYLAND

Dog Owned by H. Morrell Believed Trying To Return To Former Home

WORKOUT TOMORROW

"Wade", who has had a chance to rest up after his long trek, and a winter spent in the open, is to have his first "work-out" tomorrow.

"Wade" is a Walker fox-hound owned by Henry Morrell, Bath Addition, and who disappeared less than an hour after being delivered to Morrell in December. He was found at Perry Point, Md., 94 days later.

The story had its beginning December 12th when "Wade" was delivered to Howard J. Black, Hulmeville, after being shipped by express from a point in Virginia down near the Tennessee border. The dog reached Black's home at 3:30 that afternoon. He was taken shortly thereafter to the Morrell home, and by five p.m. had disappeared.

Nothing more was heard of the dog until March 15th when a telephone call was received by Black.

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

The Western Big Three will meet in London soon in a move to associate Italy with the administration of the Italian Zone of Trieste and North Atlantic plans for defending that strategic area. Rome looked forward to a voice in administration and eventual settlement of the thorny Trieste issue.

In the Tunisian and German situations, the other major problems confronting the West, President Auriol of France sent two emissaries to the Bey of Tunis in an attempt to ease the tension caused by the arrest of the Premier and two Ministers. As for Germany, Moscow indicated it would not recognize the right of a United Nations body to supervise elections to reunify the German nation.

The British Commons held stormy sessions. It debated the crisis in the textile industries at a twenty-three-hour sitting during which a woman Laborite was expelled and clashed again over the Conservative bill to increase charges in the National Health Service. There was another embittered debate over announcement that Seretse Khama, the African tribal ruler who married a London typist, had been banished forever from Bechuanaland. Secret sessions in Korea over prisoner exchange made no progress.

BRISTOL MAN CAUGHT WITH NUMBER PLAYS

Santo Anzalone, Police Say, Had 2765 Number Plays And $127 in Cash

RELEASED IN $1000 BAIL

A Bristol man was arrested yesterday in Bristol Township for having in his possession number plays, according to the police.

Santo Anzalone, 29, 1605 Farragut avenue, Bristol, was arrested yesterday by Pvt. Dane and Kutmey, Sgt. McCarr and Bucks County Detective Fred Kohler, in Bristol Township on Route 13, near Beaver Dam Road.

Anzalone had in his possession 2765 number plays, which were confiscated together with $127, say police. He was charged with lottery before Justice-of-the-Peace, John Brennan, Trevese, and released under $1,000 bail for further hearing.

New Screen Installed At The Bristol Theatre

A new and radically different screen was installed at the Bristol theatre yesterday.

This screen consists of side wings, top and bottom panel designed with straight lines and curves so that when the picture is on the screen, it greatly reduces eye strain and softens the picture and enhances the color value as well as picture detail.

It creates an illusion of depth similar to a third dimension and the picture appears larger than it actually is.

To Direct Blood Program

DR. WM. T. LINEBERRY

Dr. William T. Lineberry, retired rear admiral, U. S. N., has been appointed director of the blood program for Southeastern Pa. Chapter, American Red Cross. Dr. Lineberry's record dates back to 1917, when he was commanding officer of the U. S. Naval Hospital on Guam, when that island was overrun by the Japanese in World War II. He was captured, along with others, and held prisoner for 45 months. "We had the dubious distinction of being the first Americans to be captured," he said. The first month of his imprisonment was spent on Guam, the remaining 44 in three different POW camps in Japan.

After repatriation in September of 1946, Dr. Lineberry was awarded the Bronze Star, and retired from active duty with the rank of rear admiral. Later he joined the staff of the Veterans Administration in this area, and became liaison officer at Phila. Naval Hospital.

Dr. Lineberry says, "In my years of experience as a surgeon with the Navy, I have repeatedly seen the value of whole blood and plasma administered to wounded men. There is no question that the increase in the number of lives of wounded men being saved in Korea, over those in previous wars, can be directly attributed to the efficiency of administering whole blood. As long as we continue to fight in Korea, we must continue to give more and more blood."

SEVERAL CASES ARE BEFORE COUNTY COURT

Thomas Bright, Croydon, Pleads Guilty To Arson Charge

TRENTONIAN IS FINED

DOYLESTOWN, Mar. 28.—Several cases from the Lower Bucks County area were before the Bucks County Court criminal session, during the past few days.

Thomas Bright, 22, 1330 Maple avenue, Croydon, who pleaded guilty to arson, which included burning the barn of Emily Haines Rothwell on Mill Creek road, Falls township, Jan. 25, will undergo mental observation for 90 days at the Norristown State Hospital before being sentenced by President Judge Hiram H. Brownies Learning To Become Good Hostesses

Brownie Troop, 103, Maple Shade, has had two of the three "party plan" meetings scheduled to help the Brownies be perfect hostesses. The troop is divided into three groups and each group must rotate in preparation of refreshments, setting table, serving, and last but not least, cleaning up. The girls are making plans for another party in April. After this series of meetings, the girls hope to demonstrate what they have learned to their mothers and friends at a birthday party April 26. They hope to have a representative from Bucks County Council and another from the Children's Heart Hospital present to receive the affilia the girls made this winter.

Anyone who has any cotton percale remnants or scraps four inches or larger, and would like to donate them to the troop for this project, please call Mrs. Roland Zepp, or contact Mrs. Harry Willett, 1321 Dixon avenue, Croydon, troop leader.

NO NEED TO WORRY ABOUT RABID FOXES

So Claim Lower Bucks Co. Hunters Who Have Them "Thinned Out"

40 FOR HOFMEISTERS

"Don't worry about rabid foxes in lower Bucks county."

This is the message from one hunter in the area, who states that hunters are responsible for destruction of at least 120 foxes this winter from Buckingham to Bristol.

William L. Hofmeister and son, George T. Hofmeister, Newtown, in the office of Justice of the Peace Leon H. Milnor, Newtown, took affidavit in claim for bounty for 34 gray and six red foxes, which were killed in Middletown, Northampton, Newtown, Upper Makefield and Lower Makefield townships, over a period of 3½ months. Mr. Hofmeister, known as "Dutch" to his many friends, has certainly kept the foxes in line in the Newtown area. He is the owner of a pair of fox hounds that can really drive fox, especially "Spike," for whom he says he "would not take $1,000."

Mr. Hofmeister and son George, and "Spike" enjoy hunting fox during their spare time. "Dutch" and his son, George, have been invited to hunt around the Bucks County seat this weekend.

According to Howard J. Black, Hulmeville, the foxes are pretty well "thinned out." He states that in addition to those bagged by the Hofmeisters, that Black and Harry Morrell, the latter of Bristol township, secured 15; Burgess Leon R. Comly, Hulmeville, approximately 10; James Riccardo, Woodbourne, approximately 33; a group of Morrisville hunters, 12 or 13; and several by hunters in the Bristol area.

IZAAK WALTON'S GRAVE

Ideas of sport differ greatly. The boy who catches a four-inch minnow with a worm and a bent pin on a handline may never recapture that first fine careless rapture with the finest equipment his adult dollars can buy.

But most hunters and anglers have the right idea. They say that shooting fish in a barrel isn't sporting. They mean it isn't fun. Unless it's hard to do, there isn't much real sport in it.

But tastes differ in this as in other things. Red Smith, a New York reporter, who recently found himself high and dry in Arizona, reports a situation near Phoenix that would make Izaak Walton perform in his grave like a fish out of water.

An enterprising chap there stocked an ordinary sized swimming pool with 4,000 rainbow trout and proceeded to make himself a nice piece of change. He rented rigid rods, unsuitable lines, shrimp, salmon eggs and dusty flies, and charged for the catch according to size.

Anglers who have caught mountain trout with rod, reel and fly look down their noses at the eastern brook trout. The Rocky Mountain variety, they aver, is hyped up with oxygen from the rocky, churning, ice-cold and crystal-clear streams. He is shrewd, he is tricky and ounce for ounce he is the equal of any fighting fish anywhere.

But 4,000 fish crowded into a swimming pool under the hot sun are lucky to get enough oxygen to stay alive. The seven-inch specimen Red Smith hooked, he says, "fought with the game fury of a bent twig."

AUTOMATIC DIMMERS

An earth-shaking improvement in automobiles was reported several years ago—invention of a gimmick which, installed on convertibles, would raise the top when a splatter of rain struck it. All without the touch of human hands.

The vehicle thus equipped could be parked with the top down, with nary a worry about possible rain. This was another invention that never seemed to catch on. Probably by the time rain activated the gismo that raised the top the inside of the car was soaked.

But another invention in the same category is now announced that is described as a still greater boon to drivers of sedans as well as convertibles. It is a device that will dim headlights automatically when the lights of another car appear ahead.

Automatic transmissions, chokes, dimmers, windshield washers, window lifts and tires that never seem to need air. The automotive industry certainly never stands still. Veteran drivers will probably point out that the most important automatic convenience of all was not mentioned—the automatic starter.

The only automatic gadget missing from the fully equipped deluxe job is an automatic brake.

ically tries to tell the electorate that these primaries, in which he fares so badly, are "eyewash".

But the patronage blight has fallen not upon the Democrats alone.

If the Republicans miss this most glorious opportunity of two decades, if they celebrate their "victory" again in May and June, but fumble it in November, then the cause will be conspicuous.

The fault will lie at the door of patronage. Nine tenths of the scuffling going on in Republican ranks has nothing at all to do with principles, nothing to do with platforms, and revolves about the question of who would be key man if this candidate is elected, or that one.

Consider the situation in the Eisenhower camp. It is idle for anyone to say this drive is a matter of principle and conviction. For Senator Lodge, manager of the Draft-Eisenhower movement, himself conceded on the air that he doesn't know enough about what the General stands for to discuss the matter sensibly.

The General himself isn't working for his nomination. This is being done by a handful of "professionals," and their interest in the outcome is obvious.

Ever since the movement started, there have been behind-the-scenes scuffles as vicious and deadly as the rows which used to go on in the French courts when the king's "favorites" would be having it out between them which the king liked best.

Last summer Senator Duff appeared to have the inside track, and to be the braintruster, spokesman and manager of the Eisenhower "putsch." Then came a flock of rumors, and suddenly Senator Duff was in second place, and Senator Lodge had the post of honor.

But Senator Lodge's grip on the reins appears to be not completely secure. In his recent television appearance, he said that he was not selected by General Eisenhower, not ratified by him, and was appointed by and answerable to quite other individuals whom he did not identify.

Even before this happened, the country has been plagued with tips and "inside dope," to the effect that another coup d'etat is in the making, that General Eisenhower really has little time for the present leaders, that at an appropriate moment he will sidetrack them and place his fate in entirely different hands.

Meanwhile, political leaders throughout the nation, who ought better to be praying over the question of who can best meet the responsibility of the great emergency toward which these leaders are being tempted to forget all this phase of the matter, and concentrate on the grossly practical task of trying to be sure to be on the winning side.

Several Cases Are Before County Court

town physician-psychiatrist, testified the defendant has the mental T. Q. of from eight to nine years old and does know right from wrong but suffers from compulsory emotional impulses.

Detective William L. Stackhouse arrested the defendant following an investigation aided by Falls Township Fire Company firemen.

"I wanted a little excitement and I like to see the engines," testified Bright on the witness stand as his excuse, or reason, for burning the barn.

He was on his way to work in Morrisville, when he stopped his car, took a flashlight, went into the barn and threw a match on some papers. He waited to see that it would burn and then went to the home of Maurice Shull, son of the owner of the barn, and informed them the barn was on fire. Shull insisted there was another man with him at that time.

"Did you look around to see whether there were any horses, cows or other animals in the barn?" Judge Edward G. Blester asked the defendant. "Surely, you wouldn't want to burn any animals, would you?" the Court asked. "No, I wouldn't," said the defendant meekly.

Although County Detective Stackhouse and others insisted there was someone with the defendant, Bright maintained on the witness stand that he was alone when he set the barn on fire.

The investigation is still being carried on, Detective Stackhouse said.

The defendant changed his plea from not guilty to guilty and President Judge Keller discharged the jury.

Asserting that "involuntary manslaughter cases are in themselves their own punishment," Judge Edward G. Blester sentenced Thomas

They came up and spoke to us, because they had remembered us from the Christmas party that we had given them. And remember, at the time they came and spoke to us, we were in civilian clothes." The members of the Association voted to give $5 from the treasury for the cause, and then they gave much more than that from their pockets.

There was a bit of discussion at the meeting about the possible location of a target shooting range for the Association. Several possible sites were mentioned and Wenhold announced that they would all be investigated.

George Blay of Fountain Hill, a Lehigh County Republican candidate for Congressman, said: "A government is only as good as the people elected to it." He charged the association to "learn about the candidates and then vote carefully."

Several prominent local men were among the 15 new members accepted into the Association last evening, including president of the Bristol township commissioners, George Sottung, Croydon; Joseph O. Long-Lost Fox Hound Found in Maryland

"I have your dog," said a man's voice at the other end of the wire. Certain that a friend was attempting to "kid" him, Black didn't take the conversation too seriously until the caller, Harold Taylor, assured him he was "phoning from Perry Point."

A tag on the dog's collar had borne Black's name and telephone number. The finder said the dog had appeared at his home in mid-March.

The distance was estimated by Black at 117 miles. The Hultmeville resident believes the dog was "making tracks" for his former home down Virginia way. "The Susquehanna has been high, and I think he got down on the 'point' and was hemmed in by the rivers" is Black's theory. He says that although the dog appeared in good physical condition, his coat was roughed up as though the dog had slept out all winter and had had no care.

Black drove to Perry Point to pick up the three-year-old "Wade". Once back at the Morrell kennel, plans began to formulate for training the dog. Tomorrow he takes to the field.

The next meeting will be "ladies night" on April 24 at seven o'clock at the Forrest Lodge, V. F. W., on old Route 309, between Sellersville and Quakertown. There will be a floor show followed by dancing.

NEWS OF SCHOOLS IN AREA---

All public, private and parochial schools in the Bristol area are invited to send news items for publication in this column which appears frequently.

Delhaas High School

The first day of spring, Mar. 21, was welcomed to Delhaas high school with a "spring hop," sponsored by 10th grade homerooms 10 and 24.

In keeping with the spring theme, an arbor of paper flowers formed the entrance to the library. A winter snow- to sunny spring mural decorated one wall, while small animals painted by William Wallace, were posted to the other walls. Dancers are still wondering how a small raccoon left his footprints upon the ceiling.

Mary Lou Reitz and "Betty" Jane Taylor were co-chairmen. The decorations were prepared by William Wallace, Regina Lawrence, Jo Ann Sutton, Jo Ann Bosco, Corolla Goodman, Wayne Duke, "Jack" Petro, David Meyers, George Gartner, and "Larry" Katz. "Don" Turner and "Dick" Simpson were in charge of the music. The invitation and tickets committee included Eileen Kling, Mary Lou Reitz, "Betty" Jane Taylor, Catherine Knecht, and Frances Aufschlag. Refreshments were handled by Joan Anderson, Robert Morris, "Jim" Bustraan, Harry McGuckin, and George Manley.

The dancers were entertained by an accordion duet by Antonette Schorsch and Barbara Taylor, Joan Pitman sang, and Joseph Haines played the electric guitar. Faculty sponsors were Mrs. Barbara Selman, Miss Ivy Foley, Louis Acker, and Berkeley Ellis. Other faculty and school personnel present were Henry Decker, Miss Gladys Booz, J. E. Sparks, and Stanley Dick.

St. Mary's Hall

BURLINGTON, N. J., Mar. 28.—The Drama Club of St. Mary's Hall will present two one-act plays March 29th. Both plays are under direction of Mrs. Beatrice Glass Stratford, who has recently moved to Burlington from Newport News, Va., where she directed the Little Theatre group.

The second play is "The Purple Door," a comedy, with the following cast: Mrs. Bartholomew, Judith Focht, Edely, Pa.; Amanda Dunbar, Katherine Moore, Whorntonville, N. C.; Viola Cole, Joan Nelson, Edgewater Park, N. J.

The public is invited.

Pennsbury District

L. MAKEFIELD TWP., Mar. 28.—The room mothers of 7th grades, in Pennsbury school, are invited to a tea meeting in the home economics department, April 2nd at 2:45 p. m.

The purpose of the meeting, sponsored by Pennsbury Parent-Teacher Association, is to form better relationships between parents and teachers in regard to any problems they might care to discuss pertaining to the school or their children by personal contact.

Mrs. H. J. Carlson is chairman in charge of arrangements, assisted by Mrs. Fred Beans, Mrs. Ralph Kindley, Mrs. Raymond Pope and Mrs. Stephen C. Curtin.

Bristol Township

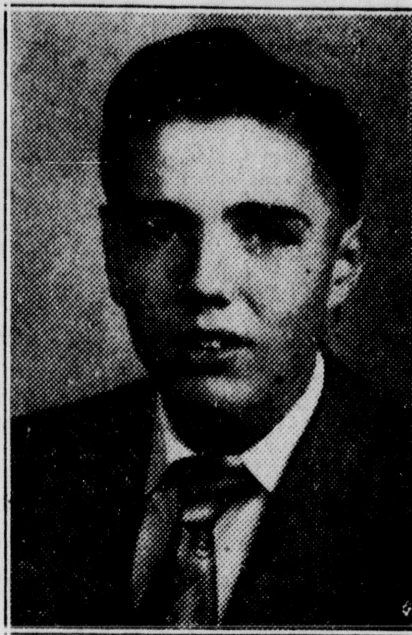

All head teachers of the eight Bristol township elementary schools met recently with Walter D. Miller, regional superintendent, and Mrs. Dorothy McCollom, elementary school supervisor, for the purpose of discussing items concerning their individual schools.

These meetings are held from time to time to talk over policies of cooperation, announce forthcoming events, and to bring before the group matters needing discussion. They have proved most helpful towards a better unity and cooperation between the administration and the faculties of all schools.

Mrs. Mary Devine, Mrs. Nina Swangler, and Mrs. Florence Lewis attended a meeting of the committee on Professional Ethics held recently in Bensalem township high school. This group, with Mrs. Elsie Morgan, chairman, is working in conjunction with the Phila. Suburban Principals' Association.

The schools of Bristol township participated in the recent Bucks county air raid drill. At the sound of a signal, the pupils were taken to pre-arranged safety areas within the buildings and remained there during the test period. Administrators reported that the cooperation of all the children was highly desirable.

On Thursday of this week, Mrs. Dorothy A. McCollom will attend a meeting of the Elementary School Supervisors of Bucks county to be held in Doylestown.

Two representatives of Bristol township schools, Mrs. Nina Swangler and Mrs. Florence Lewis, met in Doylestown recently with other members of the Bucks Co. Institute Advisory Council.

The meeting, with Dr. Genevieve Bowen as chairman, met in the Education building. Plans were discussed for the Fall Institute, after which, the group was shown an exhibit of paintings by Mr. Maximilian Vanka, Rushland (Bucks)

NEWTOWN, Mar. 28 — Council Rock H. S. seniors will participate in the annual three-day Washington, D. C. tour Mar. 31, April 1 and 2. The group will be registered at the Plaza Hotel. On Mar. 31st, the seniors will leave the high school at seven a.m., and stop enroute at Post House, Oxford, and that day will visit Franciscan Monastery, Arlington National cemetery, Fort Myer, Mt. Vernon, Alexandria, Va., Jefferson Memorial, followed by group activities.

The Tuesday schedule will be visits at: bureau of engraving and printing, Washington Monument, Pan American Union, U. S. Capitol, Supreme Court, embassies, legations, St. Albans Cathedral and the National Zoological Gardens, and group activities.

Scheduled for Wednesday is the following itinerary: Smithsonian Institute, Old and New Museums, National Art Gallery, leave hotel for home via Annapolis, Md.; visit U. S. Naval Academy, stop for dinner at Greyhound Post House, Oxford, arrive High school approximately 10 p. m.

The sixth grade provided the program for the Intermediate Assembly on March 19th. They sang two songs that had been taught by Mrs. Shick. In social studies, the pupils have been studying about Brazil. Each pupil prepared a short talk using "Brazil Day" as the theme. Souvenirs, pictures, drawings, charts, models, and maps were used to make the reports more interesting.

Students of the Junior high school have had several air raid drills recently. These drills and exercises are to be held not less than once a month. Sneak or flash attack drills have been held. On Friday, a public air raid drill was held, in which the school participated. Students on the playground sought cover beside the stone wall of the building.

The fourth report period honor roll has been announced. The following students have achieved the scholastic distinction of having nothing lower than A. B in major subjects, no S— in minor subjects and no poor conduct marks: 8-1— Jean Bellmeyer, "Bob" Bartholomew, Robert Bishop, William Caul, Robert Kirk, 7-1— Jean Bartholomew, Alba Esposito, Charles Hall, Suzanne Leonhardt, Robert Luft, 7-2— Sally Jefferson.

Recently the Junior high school pupils were shown a film entitled "Duck and Cover". The purpose of the film was to acquaint pupils with methods used in air raid drills.

Mr. Gilbert talked to one of the classes concerning civil defense. The defense workers are greatly concerned over civil defense in this area.

Mr. Gilbert is one of three men who are under supervision of Colonel Heritage in "Education and Welfare", under the civil defense program for this area.

Two teams—Harriman Methodist Langhorne Aces—earned the right to meet in the semi-finals at YMCA Senior basketball league playoffs this evening at 7:15 p.m. the Rohm and Haas court. Last night evening Harriman Methodist defeated Fourth Ward by the score of 39 to 30. The game was a one and viciously contested, under-the-basket work by Bob and Jack Carter told the story for the Methodist team. Manager "Patsy" Straffe of the Fourth Ward team constantly reshuffled team in an endeavor to find the combination. Coles, Paglione, Manzo exhibited outstanding play for the losers.

In the other game between Benjamin A. A. and Langhorne Aces of the finest games of the season took place. With both teams playing good ball, the score was several times. The game was a hotting duel between Curran of Aces and Redwitz of the Benjamin team. Curran had 17 points, the winning Langhorne team. Redwitz counted 13 points. Langhorne was the final victor by score of 34 to 30. Al Bader Ludwig played good ball for winners while Meyers and Van were outstanding for the losers.

The two winning teams will meet Friday and the winners of the game will meet the regular season champion Celtics team in a future game for the final championship. Mr. Straffe of the Fourth Ward team is interested in scheduling a game after the semi-final game on that night. Two interested in should contact him.

Mr. Norbeck, director of the CA, announces that several activities are taking place at the CA. Under the direction of Ir-Scheffy, 32 young boys are entered in the Junior Rifle Association of America and every Monday evening conduct a meeting and practice shoot. At the present time, Scheffy and the boys are looking for an outdoor site for a firing range. Other young boys interested in joining the club are invited to so.

This Friday evening Miss Barbara Yerkes and Frank J. Fuoco assist the girls of the past CA basketball league in conducting their first dance at the CA. Dancing will be from 8 to 10 p.m.

In the near future, an open house photography will be conducted by Philip Felicione. A well-known photographic corporation will put an exhibition.

Plans for an entire summer program including swimming and softball are now being formulated at YMCA by the staff.

To Send CARE Package To India; Material for Korea

RICHBORO, Mar. 28—Voting to send a $10 CARE package to India, and $5 for material to Korea, members of the Junior Missionary Society of Addisville Reformed Church, met this week at the home of Miss Mary Post.

The devotional period was in charge of Miss Florence Herzog.

Sewing for missions, as well as business, will occupy members at the April meeting.

Plans were made for a one-night canvass of the Richboro area for the Salvation Army, a yearly task of the society. Plans for the church have been ordered and a new plan of honoring new mothers was decided upon.

Miss Alice Gill, assisted by several others, presented "Calling All Talents," in which different avenues of service in missionary endeavors were shown. A social hour followed.

Zoning Plan Near for Bristol Township, It is Stated

to assure adequate standards of light and air where practicable.

5. To prevent water and sanitation problems by basing lot size minimums on the availability of public sewer and water utilities; and to facilitate the extension of required and desirable public services in a logical and economical manner.

To accomplish these objectives, the proposed zoning plan divides the township into several districts or zones — rural — residential, residential, commercial and industrial. These districts are shown on the Zoning Map which is a part of the zoning plan. In each of these zones, the ordinance (1) indicates the kinds of uses that are permitted; (2) contains certain regulations with regard to lot area and sizes of yards and other open spaces; and (3) sets maximum height limits.

For example, in all districts, single houses may be built. In addition, all other uses which are a normal part of residential neighborhoods are permitted — schools, churches, parks, and so on. Also, customary home occupations can be carried on anywhere in the Township. However, new commercial and industrial uses are permitted in commercial and industrial districts only. Ample areas are allocated for commercial and industrial establishments. The ordinance prohibits dwellings in heavy industrial districts thus protecting choice industrial sites from being broken up by scattered residences. It also contains special regulations for integrated shopping centers.

The proposed zoning ordinance makes clear that any building or use of land which exists at the time the ordinance is passed may be continued. Such "non-conforming uses" may not only continue, but may also expand or change to another similar use. Another regulation permits the conversion of a single-family dwelling into a dwelling for two or three families under certain circumstances. The Ordinance also contains minimum regulations with regard to such things as signs and off-street parking space.

The proposed Zoning Ordinance provides for the appointment of a Board of Adjustment under the provisions of State Law. This group of three representative citizens operates without pay as an appeal body with authority to relieve undue hardship and lend flexibility to the ordinance. The routine administration of zoning is the job of a "zoning officer," who is often the same official as the building inspector.

Once a zoning ordinance is enacted, the Board of Commissioners may amend the ordinance at any time.

"The Planning Commission has endeavored to prepare a zoning ordinance which is 'tailor made' for Bristol Township, which is reasonable, and which does not restrict any person unduly," states Mr. Rittler. "Every measure has been taken to assure that the proposed zoning plan does not interfere with the normal activities of property owners except in the interests of the entire community."

The proposed zoning ordinance is in no way a building code and it does not regulate such things as the type, appearance, or cost of a building.

The Planning Commission emphasizes that the draft of the zoning ordinance to be made public in the near future is a preliminary draft and is in no way final. Changes will be made as a result of constructive criticism made at the public hearings.

Following the two public hearings to be held by the Planning Commission, the Commission will prepare a Final Report to the Board of Township Commissioners. The law then requires that the Commissioners hold another hearing before they may pass the zoning ordinance. When Bristol Township passes a zoning ordinance, it will join with a number of other municipalities in lower Bucks County which have zoning ordinances.

SPORTSMEN'S BRIEFS

C. Kenneth Jenks
Pinch-Hitting for Joe Elbersen

In areas where upland game seems to be in short supply in relation to existing hunting pressure, gunners are apt to lose interest in the use of their shotguns. This comes about, no doubt, by thinking of this gun only in the terms of the size of a game bag it can produce. However, there are purposes, other than game-getting, from which the shooter might derive every bit as much pleasure and satisfaction.

Trap shooting, of course, is the top sport in this respect. It is also the most costly and therefore extensive association for most of us is prohibitive. An occasional twenty-five, however, can usually be provided if we can be satisfied with such. But should our regard for shooting grow beyond such levels, we must look around for other fields of activities.

In most cases, crow shooting will provide the best results. The population of this bird has increased tremendously. This is largely due to the fact that it has few natural enemies who can out-wit it and is molested but little by people. The crow has always been a pest to the farmer and is known to be a destroyer of the eggs and young of wildlife. With this in mind, the hunting of this bird not only furnishes shooting, entirely comparable to that of game birds but gives the hunter the satisfaction of knowing he is benefiting both the farmer and wildlife. Get in touch with that farmer friend and make arrangements to give it a try.

It is unfortunate that bottom fishermen are refused the use of any stream during the bad period now in force. Especially in the case of sucker fishermen this is so disturbing. During the month of March, sucker runs are usually at their peak which of course means the most profitable time for fishing. It is believed that being denied this season has caused severe iniquities among fishermen which should not exist.

For several years, the Bristol Fish and Game Protective Association was privileged the use of a portion of Bristol Borough property for a small-bore rifle range. Recently that privilege was rescinded in the interest of safety. The development of the surrounding area plus its inviting nearness to the new section of Route 13 prompted this action. Our club sponsors a very active Junior group of target shooters. They are managed by qualified instructors and comply with the National Rifle Association requirements with whom they are affiliated. However in order to retain that affiliation, it is necessary they have at their disposal an outdoor range for summer activity.

We are anxious to obtain a location suitable for this purpose at the earliest possible moment and would greatly appreciate any information concerning a site which might be made available to us.

The panfish fishermen have again come into their own. This is the season when the calico bass or crappie, king of the panfish family, become quite active. Reports are that good catches are being made at Silver Lake. Locate a lake or pond which contains this species and probe for the section where these fish are gathered. Use tackle in balance with this size fish and you are in for some grand sport.

A cardinal factor in conservation practices is the regard a fisherman exhibits when returning to the water fish he has caught but does not wish to retain. Whether the fish so liberated will live or die depends entirely upon the care or indifference of the individual. If the fish is being freed because of illegal size that fish should be given every consideration to prevent severe injury that it might mature to a size worthy of a sportsman's reel. Should the case be that the fish caught holds no interest for him he must remember that the same fish at a later time could be a very exciting catch for another angler.

Tuesday, April 1st brings the opening of the striped bass season. A good number of local surf fishermen plan to visit the New Jersey shores to try their luck on the opening day. Remember fellows, a striper must be 15" or over to be a keeper.

PROFY BOWS OUT OF THE PLAYOFFS; ROHM & HAAS WINS

The Profy team lacked scoring punch last night as it bowed out of the playoffs of the Bristol Basketball League. The Rohm & Haas team defeated the Profymen, 63-48, on the Goodwill Hose Company court.

As the result of its win, Rohm & Haas will meet the Franklin team in a semi-final game Sunday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock on the Goodwill court. In the preliminary game,

St. Ann's Juniors will play the Bristol Falcons.

Al Burton and Henry Konefal were the only consistent scorers of the Profy team as the pair tabbed a total of 42 of the 48 points. Until the last quarter, Burton and Konefal had accounted for all the Mill Streeters' tallies.

The Rohm & Haas aggregation built up a comfortable lead from the start as it took the Profymen close to eight minutes before they made a fielder. However, before half-time rolled around, the score had been reduced to 26-20 with Konefal making four double-deckers in a row.

Rohm & Haas maintained its lead in the third quarter and then closed with Nick Spadaccino going on a spree. Nick scored six beautiful shots in the finale to run his total points to 18. Augie Everitt chipped in with 12 points.

HIBERNIANS OUT OF THE PLAYOFFS DUE TO FRANKLIN

The Hibernians, last season's champions, were eliminated from the playoffs of the Bristol Basketball League last night by a hustling Franklin A. C. contingent on the Goodwill Hose Company court. Final score was 60-52.

The Franklin team, using its height to a good advantage, led from the start, scoring nine points in the first two minutes of playing. Joe Spencer and Grant Eckert were the big guns in retrieving the ball off the boards and doing some nice tapping in of field goals.

The Hibs staged several spurts in the games, especially in the second half. In the third quarter, the Franklin lead was reduced to 7 points 40-33 on one occasion but field goals by Howard Keys and Dezzy DeLise stopped the Hibs' rally. In the waning minutes of the tilt, the Corson Streeters came back strong to cut the lead to six points but it was too late for any damage. Eckert scored 19 points while Stan Lelinski and Spencer had 12 each. For the Hibs, Charlie Brady had 18 counters and Bill Brady, 14. Eckert scored 17 of his points in the first half while Charlie Brady accounted for 12 of his points in the second half.

The Hibernians had a bad night from the foul line in converting but 10 of their 21 shots. Franklin dunked 12 of its 21 tries.

INTRAMURAL LEAGUE

The Junior 1-3X team was victorious over the Junior 1-1 team in a Senior High Intramural League game yesterday. Final score was 20-12 with Kornstedt getting 11 points for the winners. The Senior 1-1 aggregation won over the Senior 1-2 team by a 23-15 score with Lucenti scoring 13 points for the winners. In the other games played, the Junior 1-3Y team won over the Junior 1-2 quintet, 28-21; Junior A-2 captured a 27-12 decision over Junior 1-2; Junior A-1 beat Sophomore 1-1 by a 15-8 score and 12 A scored a 29-24 win over 10-1-2. In the Junior High League, 9-1 beat 9-2-B by a 19-6 count and 8-1-B won over 9-2, 42-11. In the latter game, Bloodgood and Franceschini accounted for 32 points.

ZONING PLAN NEAR FOR BRISTOL TWP, IT IS STATED

Preliminary Draft is Being Readied for General Distribution

PLAN TWO MEETINGS

Proposed Plan is Result of Months of Study By Commission

Bristol Township residents will soon have the opportunity of studying and criticizing a proposed zoning plan for Bristol Township. A preliminary draft of the zoning plan, prepared by the Bristol Township Planning Commission, is being readied for distribution to the general public for review and comment. Walter G. Rittler, chairman of the Planning Commission, has announced that the preliminary report will be given wide circulation among the property owners and other interested citizens of Bristol Township. Following publication of the report, two public meetings will be scheduled. Notice of the time and place of these public hearings will be given as soon as arrangements can be completed.

The proposed zoning plan is the result of months of study on the part of the Planning Commission. Members of the Planning Commission in addition to Mr. Rittler are: Reba Goebig, Martin Lavens, Joseph Mixer, and Harry Smith. The Planning Commission was assisted in its work by the Government Consulting Service of the University of Pennsylvania, technical experts retained by the Board of Township Commissioners. In the opinion of the Planning Commission, the adoption of a zoning ordinance will give the township one important planning control necessary to guide township development and to meet adequately the impact of fast-growing industrial and residential development in the immediate area. The objectives of the zoning plan as stated by the Planning Commission are:

1. To direct the Township's growth so as to avoid continued scattered, intensive, and mixed development which can destroy property values and add to the burden of the taxpayer.
2. To separate residential, commercial, and industrial uses and to provide ample space in the proper locations for each kind of use.
3. To protect roadsides from spotty ribbon-type development, harmful both to proper and safe use of the road and to the best use of the land along the road.
4. To avoid overcrowdedness in any section of the Township, and

Large Radio-Controlled Model Plane Exhibited

A meeting of the Bristol Aeromodelers was held on Wednesday evening. Several business items concerning the third annual model flying circus were discussed.

In view of the increasing interest in free flight duration and radio-controlled model planes, the possibility of the club building a master transmitter in the near future was discussed. This would mean that each model flier would only have to mount a receiver and control system in his craft.

A large radio-controlled model plane was exhibited before the group by Kenneth Greenfield.

The door prize was won by William Snyder.

A model flying session will be held by the club Sunday on Hunter-Wilson field, weather permitting.

THE PLAGUE OF PATRONAGE

Nobody has ever licked the problem of patronage. It is the bane of politics. It always has been. Arguments over the dispensation of kings' favors are mentioned in the Bible. Rivalry over royal perquisites probably did more to undermine the institution of monarchy than any other factor.

Trace the decline and fall of great political machines in this country, and you will see that usually the so-called "revolt" was led, not by an outsider, but by a trusted lieutenant who became greedy for more patronage than he was receiving.

"Give a man a job and you make him ungrateful, and a dozen more envious"—that is an old political saying, which sheds a certain amount of light on the troubles of the Truman regime. The New Deal, at long last, has split on the reefs of patronage. You may think that the fight is over exalted principles and high policies—but wade through the speeches, for example, of Kefauver, and note that most of the quarrel boils down to "who" shall be in power, not "what" they shall do.

The same patronage which is breaking the Democratic Party apart held it together in the past. The South would have taken a walk, long ago, except for the fact that life seemed barren and desolate when viewed on the terms of presidential patronage being withheld.

Any time for years that the South wanted to get rid forever of Truman Socialism and all it stands for, there was the simplest of methods of accomplishing this—just let the Southern voters vote on election day for precisely the same leadership which so many Southerners in Congress have been voting for—Republican leadership.

All the fire and zeal and idealism that made the New Deal almost a religion to its fanatical followers, back in the Thirties, has gone out the window. Now what is left is a bitter, Kilkenny-Cat fight over who is going to name the jobholders, who is going to collect their "political contributions," who is going to tell them how to vote, who is going to finger out the recipients of contracts, who is going to collect the political cut-backs, kick-backs, five-percents, etc.

No wonder that, in this period of test primaries, anyone who runs against the President buries him in an avalanche of repudiation by the voters, and no wonder that Mr. Truman frantically

LONG-LOST FOX HOUND FOUND IN MARYLAND

Dog Owned by H. Morrell Believed Trying To Return To Former Home

WORKOUT TOMORROW

"Wade", who has had a chance to rest up after his long trek, and a winter spent in the open, is to have his first "work-out" tomorrow.

"Wade" is a Walker fox-hound owned by Henry Morrell, Bath Addition, and who disappeared less than an hour after being delivered to Morrell in December. He was found at Perry Point, Md., 94 days later.

The story had its beginning December 12th when "Wade" was delivered to Howard J. Black, Hulmeville, after being shipped by express from a point in Virginia down near the Tennessee border. The dog reached Black's home at 3:30 that afternoon. He was taken shortly thereafter to the Morrell home, and by five p.m. had disappeared.

Nothing more was heard of the dog until March 15th when a telephone call was received by Black.

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

The Western Big Three will meet in London soon in a move to associate Italy with the administration of the Italian Zone of Trieste and North Atlantic plans for defending that strategic area. Rome looked forward to a voice in administration and eventual settlement of the thorny Trieste issue.

In the Tunisian and German situations, the other major problems confronting the West, President Auriol of France sent two emissaries to the Bey of Tunis in an attempt to ease the tension caused by the arrest of the Premier and two Ministers. As for Germany, Moscow indicated it would not recognize the right of a United Nations body to supervise elections to reunify the German nation.

The British Commons held stormy sessions. It debated the crisis in the textile industries at a twenty-three-hour sitting during which a woman Laborite was expelled and clashed again over the Conservative bill to increase charges in the National Health Service. There was another embittered debate over announcement that Seretse Khama, the African tribal ruler who married a London typist, had been banished forever from Bechuanaland.

Secret sessions in Korea over prisoner exchange made no progress.

BRISTOL MAN CAUGHT WITH NUMBER PLAYS

Santo Anzalone, Police Say, Had 2765 Number Plays And $127 in Cash

RELEASED IN $1000 BAIL

A Bristol man was arrested yesterday in Bristol Township for having in his possession number plays, according to the police.

Santo Anzalone, 29, 1805 Farragut avenue, Bristol, was arrested yesterday by Pts. Dane and Kutney, Sgt. McCarr and Bucks County Detective Fred Kohler, in Bristol Township on Route 13, near Beaver Dam Road.

Anzalone had in his possession 2765 number plays, which were confiscated together with $127, say police. He was charged with lottery before Justice-of-the-Peace, John Brennan, Trevoise, and released under $1,000 bail for further hearing.

New Screen Installed At The Bristol Theatre

A new and radically different screen was installed at the Bristol theatre yesterday.

This screen consists of side wings, top and bottom panel designed with straight lines and curves so that when the picture is on the screen, it greatly reduces eye strain and softens the picture and enhances the color value as well as picture detail.

It creates an illusion of depth similar to a third dimension and the picture appears larger than it actually is.

To Direct Blood Program

DR. WM. T. LINEBERRY

Dr. William T. Lineberry, retired rear admiral, U. S. N., has been appointed director of the blood program for Southeastern Pa. Chapter, American Red Cross. Dr. Lineberry's record dates back to 1917, when he was commanding officer of the U. S. Naval Hospital on Guam, when that island was overrun by the Japanese in World War II. He was captured, along with others, and held prisoner for 45 months. "We had the dubious distinction of being the first Americans to be captured," he said. The first month of his imprisonment was spent on Guam, the remaining 44 in three different POW camps in Japan.

After repatriation in September of 1946, Dr. Lineberry was awarded the Bronze Star, and retired from active duty with the rank of rear admiral. Later he joined the staff of the Veterans Administration in this area, and became liaison officer at Phila. Naval Hospital.

Dr. Lineberry says, "In my years of experience as a surgeon with the Navy, I have repeatedly seen the value of whole blood and plasma administered to wounded men. There is no question that the increase in the number of lives of wounded men being saved in Korea, over those in previous wars, can be directly attributed to the efficiency of administering whole blood. As long as we continue to fight in Korea, we must continue to give more and more blood."

SEVERAL CASES ARE BEFORE COUNTY COURT

Thomas Bright, Croydon, Pleads Guilty To Arson Charge

TRENTONIAN IS FINED

DOYLESTOWN, Mar. 28—Several cases from the Lower Bucks County area were before the Bucks County Court criminal session, during the past few days.

Thomas Bright, 22, 1330 Maple avenue, Croydon, who pleaded guilty to arson, which included burning the barn of Emily Haines Rothwell on Mill Creek road, Falls township, Jan. 25, will undergo mental observation for 90 days at the Norristown State Hospital before being sentenced by President Judge Hiram H. Keller in Quarter Sessions Court here. Bright lived here and in the Plumsted section at one time.

Brownies Learning To Become Good Hostesses

Brownie Troop, 163, Maple Shade, has had two of the three "party plan" meetings scheduled to help the Brownies be perfect hostesses. The troop is divided into three groups and each group must rotate in preparation of refreshments, setting table, serving, and last but not least, cleaning up. The girls are making plans for another party in April. After this series of meetings, the girls hope to demonstrate what they have learned to their mothers and friends at a birthday party April 26. They hope to have a representative from Bucks County Council and another from the Children's Heart Hospital present to receive the affilia the girls made this winter.

Anyone who has any cotton petcags aggregating $1,500,000,000, it was disclosed that Defense Secretary Lovett had forecast in January that military expenditures would soon rise to $5,000,000,000 a month. NO NEED TO WORRY ABOUT RABID FOXES

So Claim Lower Bucks Co. Hunters Who Have Them "Thinned Out"

40 FOR HOFMEISTERS

"Don't worry about rabid foxes in lower Bucks county."

This is the message from one hunter in the area, who states that hunters are responsible for destruction of at least 120 foxes this winter from Buckingham to Bristol.

William L. Hofmeister and son, George T. Hofmeister, Newtown, in the office of Justice of the Peace Leon H. Milnor, Newtown, took affidavit in claim for bounty for 34 gray and six red foxes, which were killed in Middletown, Northampton, Newtown, Upper Makefield and Lower Makefield townships, over a period of 3½ months. Mr. Hofmeister, known as "Dutch" to his many friends, has certainly kept the foxes in line in the Newtown area. He is the owner of a pair of fox hounds that can really drive fox, especially "Spike," for whom he says he "would not take $1,000."

Mr. Hofmeister and son George, and "Spike" enjoy hunting fox during their spare time. "Dutch" and his son, George, have been invited to hunt around the Bucks County seat this weekend.

According to Howard J. Black, Hulmeville, the foxes are pretty well "thinned out." He states that in addition to those bagged by the Hofmeisters, that Black and Harry Morrell, the latter of Bristol township, secured 15; Burgess Leon R. Comly, Hulmeville, approximately 10; James Riccardo, Woodbourne, approximately 33; a group of Morrisville hunters, 12 or 13; and several by hunters in the Bristol area.

Class Conducts Service; Board Meeting Follows

EMILIE, Mar. 28 — Richard Magee, of Newtown, was guest speaker last evening at a Lenten service held in Emilie Methodist Church. The "Prayer Circle" Sunday School class, taught by Mrs. James Harris, Jr., was in charge; Mrs. Albert White announced the service; vocal solo was given by Miss Susanne Jadlocki, Abington; prayer, Miss Marjorie Ann Scheese; scripture reading, Miss Beatrice Jadlocki; selection, young people's choir, "Royal Telephone," vocal quartette, "Cleanse Me," Nancy Bixler, Lois Baker, Susanne and Betty Jadlocki. Serving as ushers were Nancy Bixler and Betty Jadlocki.

Following the service, an official board meeting was conducted in the church social room by the pastor, the Rev. Samuel Gaskell. Seventeen attended.

A letter was read stating the resignation of the church treasurer, Mrs. William Lovett, after 12 years of service. George Baker was elected to succeed Mrs. Lovett, whose resignation was accepted with regret.

A plaque is to be erected in the church in recognition of payment received as Emilie's share for the sale of Penns Manor Chapel to U. S. Steel Co., last year.

Elwood Carlen was appointed a trustee to succeed Edward Hillborn.

Mrs. James Harris, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Donald MacSherry, Mrs. Randall Prall, Mrs. Elwood Carlen, Stephen Jadlocki, Mrs. Mabel Stegmenn were elected to the board of stewards to replace Mr. and Mrs. Edward Hillborn. Mrs. E. H. Shoemaker, Mrs. James S. Douglass, Mrs. Elwood Carlen was appointed church auditor to succeed Mrs. Henry Lovett. New members of the pastoral relations committee will be Mrs. Mabel Stegmenn and Mrs. Albert Wilson.

HOUSER GIVEN BRONZE STAR MEDAL

Bristol Boy Exposed To Enemy's Fire To Direct Men

RECITE THE CITATION

WITH THE 3RD INFANTRY DIV. IN KOREA, Mar. 28 — Sgt. Paul T. Houser, 334 McKinley street, Bristol, Pa., who exposed himself to the enemy's fire in order to personally direct the movements of his men, has been awarded the Bronze Star Medal for heroism in action in Korea.

A squad leader in Company G of the 7th Infantry Regiment, Houser distinguished himself on Nov. 23, 1951, near Kowangsan, Korea, where the Communists were launching a heavy attack.

The citation states, in part: "During this action, part of the defensive perimeter was breached and Corporal (now sergeant) Houser, realizing the hostile force was attempting to penetrate through the gap, fearlessly exposed himself to the devastating bombardment as he darted across the open terrain from man to man, directing their fire and issuing ammunition."

"When the order to withdraw came, he remained at his position until every man of his squad had safely withdrawn to higher ground. Corporal Houser's heroism reflects

IZAAK WALTON'S GRAVE

Ideas of sport differ greatly. The boy who catches a four-inch minnow with a worm and a bent pin on a handline may never recapture that first fine careless rapture with the finest equipment his adult dollars can buy.

But most hunters and anglers have the right idea. They say that shooting fish in a barrel isn't sporting. They mean it isn't fun. Unless it's hard to do, there isn't much real sport in it.

But tastes differ in this as in other things. Red Smith, a New York reporter, who recently found himself high and dry in Arizona, reports a situation near Phoenix that would make Izaak Walton perform in his grave like a fish out of water.

An enterprising chap there stocked an ordinary sized swimming pool with 4,000 rainbow trout and proceeded to make himself a nice piece of change. He rented rigid rods, unsuitable lines, shrimp, salmon eggs and dusty flies, and charged for the catch according to size.

Anglers who have caught mountain trout with rod, reel and fly look down their noses at the eastern brook trout. The Rocky Mountain variety, they aver, is hyped up with oxygen from the rocky, churning, ice-cold and crystal-clear streams. He is shrewd, he is tricky and once for once he is the equal of any fighting fish anywhere.

But 4,000 fish crowded into a swimming pool under the hot sun are lucky to get enough oxygen to stay alive. The seven-inch specimen Red Smith hooked, he says, "fought with the game fury of a bent twig."

AUTOMATIC DIMMERS

An earth-shaking improvement in automobiles was reported several years ago—invention of a gimmick which, installed on convertibles, would raise the top when a splatter of rain struck it. All without the touch of human hands.

The vehicle thus equipped could be parked with the top down, with nary a worry about possible rain. This was another invention that never seemed to catch on. Probably by the time rain activated the gismo that raised the top the inside of the car was soaked.

But another invention in the same category is now announced that is described as a still greater boon to drivers of sedans as well as convertibles. It is a device that will dim headlights automatically when the lights of another car appear ahead.

Automatic transmissions, chokes, dimmers, windshield washers, window lifts and tires that never seem to need air. The automotive industry certainly never stands still. Veteran drivers will probably point out that the most important automatic convenience of all was not mentioned—the automatic starter.

The only automatic gadget missing from the fully equipped de luxe job is an automatic brake.

SYMBOL OF HOPE

Flowers express man's hope for everlasting peace. Their delicate beauty and fragrance shut out doubt and darkness by symbolizing the love we hold for those we've lost.

And, because we love, we grieve. But, because we have faith, we look forward to immortality. To our soul's unspoken question on these solemn occasions, flowers whisper comfortingly, "Hope!"

Because...like life...flowers flourish and fade. But there is something in their vital beauty that cannot wholly perish.

When you can't be there with those who grieve, Flowers-By-Wire carry your sympathy across the miles.

ically tries to tell the electorate that these primaries, in which he fares so badly, are "eyewash".

But the patronage blight has fallen not upon the Democrats alone.

If the Republicans miss this most glorious opportunity of two decades, if they celebrate their "victory" again in May and June, but fumble it in November, then the cause will be conspicuous.

The fault will lie at the door of patronage. Nine tenths of the scuffling going on in Republican ranks has nothing at all to do with principles, nothing to do with platforms, and revolves about the question of who would be key man if this candidate is elected, or that one.

Consider the situation in the Eisenhower camp. It is idle for anyone to say this drive is a matter of principle and conviction, for Senator Lodge, manager of the Draft-Eisenhower movement, himself conceded on the air that he doesn't know enough about what the General stands for to discuss the matter sensibly.

The General himself isn't working for his nomination. This is being done by a handful of "professionals," and their interest in the outcome is obvious.

Ever since the movement started, there have been behind-the-scenes scuffles as vicious and deadly as the rows which used to go on in the French courts when the king's "favorites" would be having it out between them which the king liked best.

Last summer Senator Duff appeared to have the inside track, and to be the braintruster, spokesman and manager of the Eisenhower "push." Then came a flock of rumors, and suddenly Senator Duff was in second place, and Senator Lodge had the post of honor.

But Senator Lodge's grip on the reins appears to be not completely secure. In his recent television appearance, he said that he was not selected by General Eisenhower, not ratified by him, and was appointed by and answerable to quite other individuals whom he did not identify.

Even before this happened, the country has been plagued with tips and "inside dope" to the effect that another coup d'etat is in the making, that General Eisenhower really has little time for the present leaders, that at an appropriate moment he will sidetrack them and place his fate in entirely different hands.

Meanwhile, political leaders throughout the nation, who ought better to be praying over the question of who can best meet the responsibility of the great emergency toward which the Republican Party, the nation and the world are drifting—ransacking their brains to decide who best is qualified for the multiple duties of administering our great and complex government—these leaders are being tempted to forget all this phase of the matter, and concentrate on the grossly practical task of trying to be sure to be on the winning side.

town physician-psychiatrist, testified the defendant has the mental IQ of from eight to nine years old and does know right from wrong but suffers from compulsory emotional impulses.

Detective William L. Stackhouse arrested the defendant following an investigation aided by Falls Township Fire Company firemen.

"I wanted a little excitement and I like to see fire engines," testified Bright on the witness stand as his excuse, or reason, for burning the barn.

He was on his way to work in Morrisville, when he stopped his car, took a flashlight, went into the barn and threw a match on some papers. He waited to see that it would burn and then went to the home of Maurice Shull, son of the owner of the barn, and informed them the barn was on fire. Shull insisted there was another man with him at that time.

"Did you look around to see whether there were any horses, cows or other animals in the barn?" Judge Edward G. Biester asked the defendant. "Surely, you wouldn't want to burn any animals, would you?" the court asked. "No, I wouldn't," said the defendant meekly.

Although County Detective Stackhouse and others insisted there was someone with the defendant, Bright maintained on the witness stand that he was alone when he set the barn on fire.

The investigation is still being carried on, Detective Stackhouse said.

The defendant changed his plea from not guilty to guilty and President Judge Keller discharged the jury.

Asserting that "involuntary manslaughter cases are in themselves their own punishment," Judge Edward G. Biester sentenced Thomas

E. Somolinski, 28, 126 Mill street, Trenton, N. J., to pay the costs of prosecution, $300 in lieu of a fine and suspended a prison sentence of one year.

The defendant pleaded guilty to operating his car, Feb. 11, in Yardley where it crashed into a pole and Miss Rose Marie Martin, 23, who was injured, died in Mercer Hospital, Trenton, N. J., later.

Chief of Police R. S. Hoagland, of the Yardley Police Department, investigated the auto-pole accident. A Yardley attorney, Ralph B. Yardley, who was sitting at the dinner table, about eight o'clock in the evening, heard the impact. He rushed out, saw the defendant lying in the highway and Miss Martin beneath the car.

Andrew M. Cella, 54, a retired Trenton N. J., lawyer, said the defendant has a good reputation. Both the defendant and Miss Martin had no parents living.

"Your counsel was wise in suggesting that you enter the plea of guilty which you did," said Judge Biester. "I haven't driven a car since the accident, nor have I seen mine," he said.

Stanley Hynekiewicz, 23, 1314 West Hunting Park avenue, Philadelphia, who was convicted of involuntary manslaughter by a jury Dec. 14, 1951, was sentenced by Judge Biester to pay the costs of prosecution, the sum of $300 in lieu of a fine, and a prison sentence of one year was suspended. The defendant, a married man, was driving a car in Bensalem township Jan. 19, 1951, when it crashed into a tree. State Trooper Howard C. Shook, of the Langhorne sub-station investigated. Miss Georgiana Stroten was killed.

Re-Elect Wenhold Pres't of Bucks County Police Ass'n

They came up and spoke to us, because they had remembered us from the Christmas party that we had given them. And remember, at the time they came and spoke to us, we were in civilian clothes."

The members of the Association voted to give $5 from the treasury for the cause, and then they gave much more than that from their pockets.

There was a bit of discussion at the meeting about the possible location of a target shooting range for the Association. Several possible sites were mentioned and Wenhold announced that they would all be investigated.

George Blay of Fountain Hill, a Lehigh County Republican candidate for Congressman, said: "A government is only as good as the people elected to it." He charged the association to "learn about the candidates and then vote carefully."

Several prominent local men were among the 15 new members accepted into the Association last evening, including president of the Bristol township commissioners, George Sottung, Croydon; Joseph O. Seader, chief of police of Bristol Township, Croydon; Russell Marshall, chief of the Bucks County Rescue Squad, Croydon; Earl Wisler, assistant chief of the B. C. R. S.; Henry Lahr, captain of the fire police of the B. C. R. S.; and Robert Carter, also of the B. C. R. S. Other new members are: Francis J. Goebig, Croydon; James Ashton, Bristol; Joseph Kee, Bristol; Charles Von, Croydon; Arthur R. Clayton, Feasterville; Emil Willut, Willow Grove; Fred A. Bebbington, Yardley; Paul Gruver, Quakertown; and Paul Trautman, Quakertown.

George C. Mather, Burgess of Langhorne, thanked members of the Association for coming to Langhorne. He added: "Langhorne is proud to have you."

The members gave a rising vote of thanks to the Langhorne Ladies Auxiliary for the splendid meal, and to Jesse W. Hibbs, host policeman.

The next meeting will be "ladies night" on April 24 at seven o'clock at the Forrest Lodge, V. F. W., on old Route 309, between Sellersville and Quakertown. There will be a floor show followed by dancing.

Mrs. Henry Fugetti and son Jay, Philadelphia, were Friday dinner guests of Mrs. David Feaster.

"I have your dog," said a man's voice at the other end of the wire. Certain that a friend was attempting to "kid" him, Black didn't take the conversation too seriously until the caller, Harold Taylor, assured him he was phoning from Perry Point.

A tag on the dog's collar had borne Black's name and telephone number. The finder said the dog had appeared at his home in mid-March.

The distance was estimated by Black at 117 miles. The Hultmeville resident believes the dog was "making tracks" for his former home down Virginia way. "The Susquehanna has been high, and I think he got down on the 'point' and was hemmed in by the rivers," is Black's theory. He says that although the dog appeared in good physical condition, his coat was roughed up as though the dog had slept out all winter and had had no care.

Black drove to Perry Point to pick up the three-year-old "Wade". Once back at the Morrell kennel, plans began to formulate for training the dog. Tomorrow he takes to the field.

NEWS OF SCHOOLS IN AREA---

All public, private and parochial schools in the Bristol area are invited to send news items for publication in this column which appears frequently.

Delhaas High School

The first day of spring, Mar. 21, was welcomed to Delhaas high school with a "spring hop," sponsored by 10th grade homerooms 10 and 24.

In keeping with the spring theme, an arbor of paper flowers formed the entrance to the library. A winter snow-to-sunny spring mural decorated one wall, while small animals painted by William Wallace, were pasted to the other walls. Dancers are still wondering how a small raccoon left his footprints upon the ceiling.

Mary Lou Reitz and "Betty" Jane Taylor were co-chairmen. The decorations were prepared by William Wallace, Regina Lawrence, Jo Ann Sutton, Jo Ann Bosco, Corolla Goodman, Wayne Duke, "Jack" Petro, David Meyers, George Gartner, and "Larry" Katz. "Don" Turner and "Dick" Simpson were in charge of the music. The invitation and tickets committee included Eileen Kling, Mary Lou Reitz, "Betty" Jane Taylor, Catherine Knecht, and Frances Aufschlag. Refreshments were handled by Joan Anderson, Robert Morris, "Jim" Bustraan, Harry McGuckin, and George Manley.

The dancers were entertained by an accordion duet by Antonette Schorsch and Barbara Taylor, Joan Pitman sang, and Joseph Haines played the electric guitar. Faculty sponsors were Mrs. Barbara Selman, Miss Ivy Foley, Louis Acker, and Berkey Ellis. Other faculty and school personnel present were Henry Becker, Miss Gladys Booz, J. E. Sparks, and Stanley Dick.

St. Mary's Hall

BURLINGTON, N. J., Mar. 23.—The Drama Club of St. Mary's Hall will present two one-act plays March 29th. Both plays are under direction of Mrs. Beatrice Glass, Stratford, who has recently moved to Burlington from Newport News, Va., where she directed the Little Theatre group.

The first play to be presented is

"The Bishop's Candlesticks," with the following cast: the bishop, Cicely Holbrook, New York, N. Y.; the convict, Mary Barker, Holmdel, N. J.; Persone (the bishop's sister, a widow), Eleanor Forster, Bristol, Pa.; Marie, a servant, Jean Van-Dyke, Middletown, N. J.; sergeant of the gendarmes, Marcia Waldron, New Brunswick, N. J.; gendarme, Constance Price, Beverly, N. J.

This play is based on an incident in Victor Hugo's novel "Les Misérables."

The second play is "The Purple Door," a comedy, with the following cast: Mrs. Bartholomew, Judith Focht, Edgely, Pa.; Amanda Dunbar, Katherine Moore, Whortonsville, N. C.; Viola Cole, Joan Nelson, Edgewater Park, N. J.

The public is invited.

Pennsbury District

L. MAKEFIELD TWP., Mar. 23.—The room mothers of 7th grades, Pennsbury school, are invited to a tea meeting in the home economics department, April 2nd at 2:45 p. m.

The purpose of the meeting, sponsored by Pennsbury Parent-Teacher Association, is to form better relationships between parents and teachers in regard to any problems they might care to discuss pertaining to the school or their children by personal contact. Mrs. H. J. Carlson is chairman in charge of arrangements, assisted by Mrs. Fred Beans, Mrs. Ralph Kindley, Mrs. Raymond Pope and Mrs. Stephen C. Curtin.

Bristol Township

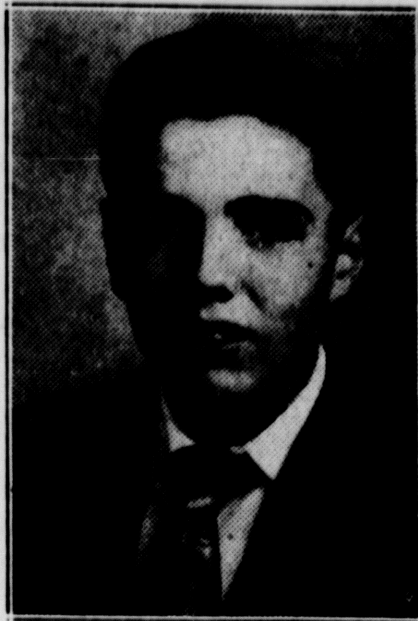

All head teachers of the eight Bristol township elementary schools met recently with Walter D. Miller, regional superintendent, and Mrs. Dorothy McCollum, elementary school supervisor, for the purpose of discussing items concerning their individual schools.

These meetings are held from time to time to talk over policies of cooperation, announce forthcoming events, and to bring before the group matters needing discussion. They have proved most helpful towards a better unity and cooperation between the administration and the faculties of all schools.

Mrs. Mary Devine, Mrs. Nina Swangler, and Mrs. Florence Lewis attended a meeting of the committee on Professional Ethics held recently in Bensalem township high school. This group, with Mrs. Elsie Morgan, chairman, is working in conjunction with the Phila. Suburban Principals' Association.

The schools of Bristol township participated in the recent Bucks county air raid drill. At the sound of a signal, the pupils were taken to pre-arranged safety areas within the buildings and remained there during the test period. Administrators reported that the cooperation of all the children was highly desirable.

On Thursday of this week, Mrs. Dorothy A. McCollum will attend a meeting of the Elementary School Supervisors of Bucks county to be held in Doylestown.

Two representatives of Bristol township schools, Mrs. Nina Swangler and Mrs. Florence Lewis, met in Doylestown recently with other members of the Bucks Co. Institute Advisory Council.

The meeting, with Dr. Genevieve Bowen as chairman, met in the Education building. Plans were discussed for the Fall Institute, after which the group was shown an exhibit of paintings by Mr. Maximilian Vanka, Rushland (Bucks)

Council Rock District

NEWTOWN, Mar. 23.—Council Rock H. S. seniors will participate in the annual three-day Washington, D. C. tour Mar. 31, April 1 and 2. The group will be registered at the Plaza Hotel. On Mar. 31st, the seniors will leave the high school at seven a. m., and stop enroute at Post House, Oxford, and that day will visit Franciscan Monastery, Arlington National cemetery, Fort Myer, Mt. Vernon, Alexandria, Va., Jefferson Memorial, followed by group activities.

The Tuesday schedule will be visits at: bureau of engraving and printing, Washington Monument, Pan American Union, U. S. Capitol, Supreme Court, embassies, legations, St. Albans Cathedral and the National Zoological Gardens, and group activities.

Scheduled for Wednesday is the following itinerary: Smithsonian Institute, Old and New Museums, National Art Gallery, leave hotel for home via Annapolis, Md.; visit U. S. Naval Academy, stop for dinner at Greyhound Post House, Oxford, arrive High school approximately 10 p. m.

The sixth grade provided the program for the Intermediate Assembly on March 19th. They sang two songs that had been taught by Mrs. Shick. In social studies, the pupils have been studying about Brazil. Each pupil prepared a short talk using "Brazil Day" as the theme. Souvenirs, pictures, drawings, charts, models, and maps were used to make the reports more interesting. Students of the Junior high school have had several air raid drills recently. These drills and exercises are to be held not less than once a month. Sneak or flash attack drills have been held. On Friday, a public air raid drill was held, in which the school participated. Students on the playground sought cover beside the stone wall of the building.

The fourth report period honor roll has been announced. The following students have achieved the scholastic distinction of having nothing lower than A. B in major subjects, no S— in minor subjects and no poor conduct marks: 8-1— Jean Belmeyer, "Bob" Bartholomew, Robert Bishof, William Caul, Robert Kirk, 7-1— Jean Bartholomew, Alba Esposito, Charles Hall, Suzanne Leonhardt, Robert Luff, 7-2— Sally Jefferson.

Recently the Junior high school pupils were shown a film entitled "Duck and Cover." The purpose of the film was to acquaint pupils with methods used in air raid drills.

Mr. Gilbert talked to one of the classes concerning civil defense. The defense workers are greatly concerned over civil defense in this area.

Mr. Gilbert is one of three men who are under supervision of Colonel Heritage in "Education and Welfare," under the civil defense program for this area.

o Send CARE Package To India; Material for Korea

RICHBORO, Mar. 28—Voting to send a $10 CARE package to India, and $5 for material to Korea, members of the Junior Missionary Society of Addisville Reformed Church, met this week at the home of Miss Mary Post.

The devotional period was in charge of Miss Florence Herzog. Sewing for missions, as well as business, will occupy members at the April meeting.

Plans were made for a one-night extravaganza of the Richboro area for the Salvation Army, a yearly task of the society. Plans for the church have been ordered and a new plan honoring new mothers was decided upon.

Miss Alice Gill, assisted by several others, presented "Calling All Angels," in which different avenues of service in missionary endeavors were shown. A social hour followed.

Zoning Plan Near for Bristol Township, It is Stated

5. To prevent water and sanitation problems by basing lot size minimums on the availability of public sewer and water utilities; and to facilitate the extension of required and desirable public services in a logical and economical manner.

To accomplish these objectives, the proposed zoning plan divides the township into several districts or zones - rural-residential, residential, commercial and industrial. These districts are shown on the Zoning Map which is a part of the zoning ordinance. In each of these zones, the ordinance (1) indicates the kinds of uses that are permitted; (2) contains certain regulations with regard to lot area and sizes of yards and other open spaces; and (3) sets maximum height limits. For example, in all districts, single houses may be built. In addition, all other uses which are a normal part of residential neighborhoods are permitted - schools, churches, parks, and so on. Also, customary home occupations can be carried on anywhere in the Township. However, new commercial and industrial uses are permitted in commercial and industrial districts only. Ample areas are allocated for commercial and industrial establishments. The ordinance prohibits dwellings in heavy industrial districts thus protecting choice industrial sites from being broken up by scattered residences. It also contains special regulations for integrated shopping centers.

The proposed zoning ordinance makes clear that any building or use of land which exists at the time the ordinance is passed may be continued. Such "non-conforming uses" may not only continue, but may also expand or change to another similar use. Another regulation permits the conversion of a single-family dwelling into a dwelling for two or three families under certain circumstances. The ordinance also contains minimum regulations with regard to such things as signs and off-street parking space.

The proposed Zoning Ordinance provides for the appointment of a Board of Adjustment under the provisions of State Law. This group of three representative citizens operates without pay as an appeal body with authority to relieve undue hardship and lend flexibility to the ordinance. The routine administration of zoning is the job of a "zoning officer," who is often the same official as the building inspector.

Once a zoning ordinance is enacted, the Board of Commissioners may amend the ordinance at any time.

"The Planning Commission has endeavored to prepare a zoning ordinance which is 'tailor made' for Bristol Township, which is reasonable, and which does not restrict any person unduly," states Mr. Rittler. "Every measure has been taken to assure that the proposed zoning plan does not interfere with the normal activities of property owners except in the interests of the entire community."

The proposed zoning ordinance is in no way a building code and it does not regulate such things as the type, appearance, or cost of a building.

The Planning Commission emphasizes that the draft of the zoning ordinance to be made public in the near future is a preliminary draft and is in no way final. Changes will be made as a result of constructive criticism made at the public hearings.

Following the two public hearings to be held by the Planning Commission, the Commission will prepare a Final Report to the Board of Township Commissioners. The law then requires that the Commissioners hold another hearing before they may pass the zoning ordinance. When Bristol Township passes a zoning ordinance, it will join with a number of other municipalities in lower Bucks County which have zoning ordinances.
